ART THERAPY PODCASTS A PRACTICAL WORKSHOP

(Convenors – Mark Braniff, Julie Brooker)

Saturday, 20 March, 2010, 1.30 to 5pm

24-27 White Lion Street, London, N1 9PD

Art Therapy Podcast is a practice emerging from the Art Therapy Practice Research Network. A podcast is a way of capturing the client's voice through their art work in a digital format. This can be used as outcome information and can have extended benefits for the client after therapy and is also a way to promote and inform others about Art Therapy.

The aim of this practical workshop is to teach participants through practical steps how to:

- Conduct a semi structured end of art therapy interview
- Make an audio recording
- Digitally photograph art work
- Upload on to a computer
- Edit an audio recording (for different audiences)
- Make a finished podcast / movie (audio and visual)

Participants (if possible) will be asked to bring a laptop and a memory stick with them on the day.
