

Art is helping sufferers of dementia

ART therapy is helping to improve the lives of people with dementia in Lanarkshire.

The 12-week project was organised by NHS Lanarkshire's Community Mental Health team for Older People, and the results have been impressive.

Claire Coleman-Smith, who helped run the scheme, said: "Art therapy can help people express their emotions and provide them with feelings of self-worth and confidence."